Very patient birds

MNR locating Red-Shouldered Hawk nests

by Russ Duhaime

"Patience is a virtue," Tim Haxton muttered from somewhere behind me. If that's true, I thought, Red-shouldered Hawks are certainly virtuous birds.

Sitting on a moist clump of leaves, listening to the screeching hawk calls from Haxton's ghetto blaster, we sat and stared at an empty nest, playing a waiting game with the pair of shy birds that are making a home there this spring.

Red Shouldered hawk populations are low throughout the province. So, to help protect nesting areas, the Ministry of Natural Resources has commissioned teams to find the nests and mark off a buffer area around them. This is being done in conjunction with the ministry's Timber Management Plans.

Haxton and Dan Belli are doing the job this area. Equipped with a ghetto blaster and paint spray bombs they look a little like members of a New York street gang. The stereo isn't playing any loud music, though, it's used to play a tape of the hawk's cry to lure the birds back to their nests. The spray cans are to mark the trees where there are active nests.

With the help of tape to call these hawks, you'd think it would be an easy task—find some cover, turn on the tape and wait for the hawks to swoop in. Unfortunately, these secretive birds aren't so easily fooled.

Haxton and Belli took me to see a nest north of Minden that they knew to be active so that I might get some pictures. Sure enough, when we approached the nest there was a pair of Red-shouldered Hawks perched in nearby trees. They weren't in a co-operative mood, though, and flew away before I had a chance to even point the camera in their direction. This is when the waiting game began. We each found some cover and Belli started the tape.

Red-shouldered Hawks nest in mature deciduous forest areas and make a diet of snakes, frogs and other small animals. They need an area of about 10 hectares to meet their territorial needs. Their large nests are almost always located near water and Haxton says they sometimes will have nests on either side of a lake. The nests themselves are built from branches and twigs, set high in the crotch of tall trees. They may use the same nests year after year for as long as 17 years in a row.

Haxton and Belli head out each morning looking for these nests and then

(more on page 41)

By nature, Red-shouldered Hawks are secretive birds, which is why so few people ever see them up close. Dozens of these relatively rare birds nest in the Highlands, but they aren't the hawks that are commonly seen perched in trees or on hydro lines along the roadways. Pictured above is a Broad-winged Hawk, which will sometimes allow you to get close enough to take its picture. During an outing last week, the closest we came to Red Shouldered Hawks was to have a pair hovering over the treetops, answering to a recorded call. Tim Haxton (left photo) patiently waited for the hawks to come closer, but the wait was in vain.

Winners at the Legion euchre games on May 4th were lone hands Casey Wilson and Frank Sargent. Other winners were Verna McDonald, Jim Bradbury, Isabel Lewis, and Jack Weekes.

Winner in the 50/50 draw at the Kinmount Legion in April was F. Parker of Aurora who won $109. Congratulations.

Carol Ann Titus of Orillia, who was away on a school band trip to Alaska, surprised her grandmother Bertha Hughes with a long-distance call from the far north.

At the euchre games at Gelert Centre on May 9th, Gordon Kellett had most lone hands. Other winners were Norm Harrison Sr., Bob Vick, Orville Francis, and Bessie Burk. There will be another night of cards on May 23rd.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bierma of Thornhill were weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vick.

Michael McElwain from Ajax, with Josh and Daniel, spent a weekend with his mother Dorothy McElwain.

Mary Cox told me of the arrival of her great-grandson—a grandson for Ron and Shirley Cox, the son of Kari and Kirk Cox of Barry's Bay.

Four delegates went to Fenelon Falls United Church Hall on Tuesday, May 9th, for the Victoria East District Annual and report having a great day. Those attending were Jean Lacey, Mary Cox, Rheta Brown, and Jeanne Sears—all, incidentally, past presidents of the Minden Women's Institute.

Good wishes to these people who may be on the sick list: Freda Harrison, Eleanor Pye, Dorothy Walker, Marjorie Robertson, Luella Yearwood, Joyce Schellenberg, and Bob Hollobon.

Trevor and Alan Clement of Scarborough spent a few days with their grandparents, Arnold and Pearl Cowen, and Harold.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Harold Harding, Maureen Barry, B.A. Cowen, D.S. Stanbury, Esther (Gibbs) Morgan, Russell Rivers, Clair Roberts, and Alma Morrison whose funerals have taken place this past week.

Some ranchers in the West asked the superintendent of the mission if they could have a minister. "How big a man do you want?" the super asked. "Well," came the reply, "we're not very particular. But when he's on his knees, we'd like to have him reach Heaven."

When all is said and done, you know, Our greatest pleasure springs Not from success or wealth, but from No end of little things. A song, a friend's warm hand, a smile—

These are what make the day worthwhile.

Other new arrivals include a baby boy for Dr. and Mrs. S. Dawson and a grand-daughter for Jim and Beryl Congdon.

Coming events include the Women's Institute meeting on Wednesday, May 17th, at 2 p.m. in the Common Room; the Lioness Yard Sale on Saturday, May 20th, from 10 a.m. at the corner of Highway 121 and South Lake Kashagawigamog (Ingoldsby) Road; and my yard sale at Irene Moore's, also on May 20th from 10 a.m. Helen Lee is also having a sale.

Don't know how many years they're celebrating, but good wedding anniversary wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Ross Keefer on May 19th.

There was a 40th wedding anniversary dinner and dance given for Lil and Les Alton by their family on Saturday, May 6th, at the Minden Recreation Centre. After dinner, all enjoyed an evening of dancing or just chatting together. Among the one hundred people present was Lil's sister Flo Doster from Belle River. Congratulations to this couple whose special day is May 17th.

The Craft and Bake Sale at Staunworth Court has been postponed to June 3rd at 10:30 a.m. There will also be an odds-and-ends table, and tea and coffee will be available.

The Haliburton County Fair Committee will present its annual Barbecue and Dance on Saturday, May 27th, at the Minden Community Centre. Music by "The Glory Boys".

The Minden Gospel Church Women's Ministry is presenting "A Royal Evening" on Wednesday, May 17th, at 7:30 p.m., including 'Tea with Charles and Diana'. The guest speaker is Ruth Stevenson. All ladies are welcome to take part at the Minden Gospel Church.

Winners at the St. Paul's card party this week were: ladies' high, Marie Dennis; ladies' low, Charlotte O'Neil; men's high, Gene McDonald; men's low, Jack Weekes; most lone hands, Mary McFee.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Rural education studied at world conference

by Ed de Grosbois
Public School Trustee
Sherborne et al

The First Canadian International Small Schools Conference was held in Montreal from May 3rd to 5th. Attending the conference were delegates from as far away as Australia, Great Britain, and the United States, as well as from all the provinces of Canada and as far north as Baffin Island. I attended as a representative of the Haliburton County Board of Education and made the following observations.

The conference highlighted some exciting new ideas in the current thinking about rural education and about the quality of education in small schools. Educators are looking at new ways of bringing the curriculum to remote schools and students in rural communities, rather than the traditional solution of bringing the student to the curriculum.

The traditional "busing solution" has had many negative effects—rural students with long bus rides every day develop little sense of community, the decay of rural communities where closure of small schools was part of this "busing solution"—all because economies of scale dictated that the only cost-effective way to provide quality education was in large centralized schools. The deplorable reality is that a rural education solution of this kind very often undermined the community it was intended to serve. But all that may be changing.

With the arrival of the computer age, new solutions to old problems are being developed. Several provinces—namely Manitoba, Alberta, and British Columbia—have developed programs to deliver curriculum to "distance learners" and small schools using multimedia, high-technology approaches. Students study in their local small school (or home) using course materials in the form of videotapes, computer programs, and printed text.

They gain access to instructional help from "distance teachers" and to other students using teleconferencing, videophone, computer networks, and FAX machines. Course assignments can be transmitted by FAX or computer network to the teacher and returned as quickly as in the normal school setting. Ontario's Ministry of Education is already experimenting with the Contact North pilot program to provide high-tech distance learning to selected rural communities in northern Ontario.

Haliburton County should pay close attention to these innovations. In terms of size, four of the county's schools fall within the 'small schools' definition and all of our schools can be classified as rural both because they serve communities of 10,000 or less and because the majority of students are bused to school. Our schools are already equipped with computers, television, and VCRs—the essential technology for making the idea work.

Although the Haliburton

Board of Education is too small to consider developing curricula of this kind on its own—some conference presenters estimated the cost at $50,000 per course—various cost-sharing arrangements with other boards might be sought. One very encouraging result of this conference was a discussion towards starting a Canadian Association for Rural Education to lobby governments for improvements in the delivery of quality education to remote areas and small schools.

The First Canadian Conference on Small Schools was sponsored by the Ontario Council for Leadership in Educational Administration.

Practising for the holiday weekend, members of the Minden Minor Hockey Association test their car washing technique. Dave Dollo and Jerry Campbell were preparing for a fund-raising car wash planned for this weekend at Dollo's IGA. Peter Dollo keeps an eye on the progress of their efforts while Don Finn, behind the wheel, is pleased to provide the test vehicle for the practice run.

calling to see if there are Red-shouldered Hawks in the area. If there are, they will mark off an block about 10 hectares in size in which no cutting can take place.

Part of the Timber Management Plans is to obtain wildlife information. The priority is on endangered, threatened and rare species as well as other species such as deer and moose that are considered important. Since districts already have information on Bald Eagles, Peregrine Falcons, Ospreys and Heron nesting colonies, the priority is on obtaining nest locations of Red-shouldered Hawks and Cooper's Hawks. Haxton and Belli will be heading out every morning until the leaf cover grows too dense.

As we waited beneath the nests with the tape playing all sorts of birds—chickadees, woodpeckers, sparrows—came close enough to almost reach out and touch. The hawks did soar high overhead for a while, but their keen eyes must have spotted us, because they never came close enough for pictures.

We're just about to be put in the bin. Why don't you help out and recycle?

Junior farmer plan is back

This year marks the eighteenth anniversary of the Junior Agriculturalist Program in Ontario. The program has been re-designed for this year. It will offer: summer assistance to farmers; urban youth the opportunity to gain farm experience; common job skills and training, as well as, bridge the rural-urban gap.

The Junior Agriculturalist Program is open to youth between 15 and 24 years of age as of January, who have little or no farm experience. Youth spend an eight-week period living and working with a Host Farm Family. The youth works 12 out of every 14 days and receives a $35 per day training allowance. The selection of the host farm family is based on its willingness and ability to teach, as well as, its need for summer assistance. The host farm family must show enthusiasm and interest in both the youth and the program.

The Junior Agriculturalist Program provides a fun and challenging learning experience for both the Junior Agriculturalist and the host farm family. This is an excellent opportunity for youth to learn more about agriculture, themselves and gain job skills for the future.

Anyone interested in participating in the program as either a Junior Agriculturalist, or a host farm family, please contact Steve Burgomaster, Supervisor of Youth Employment, as soon as possible, at the Peterborough Agriculture Office, 55 George St. N., Peterborough, Ontario, K9J 3G2. Phone 705-745-2403 or contact your local Agriculture Office.

Clean-up funding

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Last October, the federal government announced it would set up a $50 million fund to pay for cleaning up the environment at the local level.

The "Environment Partners Fund", as it is called, will pay for as much as half the cost of community clean-ups, up to $200,000 per project.

The details on applying for the program have still not all been finalized. Two types of projects will get funding:

Cleanups that restore and conserve, such as cleaning up local parks and wetlands, and tree plantings; and Projects that support waste recycling and waste reduction such as hazardous household waste, or glass or paper recycling projects like the ones which have already been in place for the past few years.

Environment Canada will be in charge of the program. Individuals as well as groups interested in saving and improving our environment will be able to apply. The program will start in April 1989 and will be in place for five years.

Planning seminar

The Chief Building Official for Anson, Hindon and Minden, Brad Bradamore, and the Chief Building Official for Stanhope, Jim Moore, have decided to join forces to present to interested citizens an informative seminar at the PineStone Inn on May 18, starting at 8:30 a.m.

Registration is restricted to the first 80 people on a first-come-first-served basis. Those wishing to attend should make sure they have registered before May 8.

Topics to be discussed are Rezoning Amendments, Official Plan Amendments, Severances, Committee of Adjustment and Subdivision Development. The cost of the seminar is only $30 for an all-day session which includes coffee and donuts, a hot and cold buffet lunch, and planning related materials.

People who will be the speakers are: Bob Lehman of Lehman and Associates, Anson, Hindon and Minden Planner Ruth Meledy, Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Ministry of Natural Resources.

Raising the roof

A Minden contingent of more than twenty, will be among 500 craftsmen who will travel from around the world to Hanover, Pennsylvania, to participate in the 5th Annual Conference of The Timber Framers Guild of North America.

In keeping with the spirit of sharing which has dominated this four day educational gathering, this year will make history when members arrive with materials in hand to erect two frames in a unique collaborative house-building project as part of the "Habitat for Humanity" program.

Two Minden companies will carry with them Ontario White Pine floor beams pre-cut in their shops, to specifications, sent out by project coordinators. With the frame raising scheduled for Thursday morning, May 18, 1989, tradesmen will begin a 70 hour around-the-clock work schedule to complete the houses for dedication ceremonies Sunday afternoon, May 21.

Algonquin Park Master plan now under review

The Ministry of Natural Resources is encouraging public involvement in its second review of the Algonquin Park Master Plan, the management plan for Ontario's oldest provincial park.

"The review is an excellent opportunity for park users and other members of the public to comment on how the facilities, services, and attractions available in Algonquin Park should best be used and I strongly encourage people to attend the meetings and make their views known," Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio said.

"The purpose of the management plan is to enhance Algonquin Park's role in providing a wide range of superb recreational opportunities and contributing to the social and economic life of the region. Equally important, however, is protection of the unique historical and natural heritage values associated with the park."

The Algonquin Park Master Plan was written in 1974 and last reviewed in 1979. The current review will replace the Master Plan with a revised Algonquin Provincial Park Management Plan.

"As with the first review, I have asked the Provincial Parks Council to co-ordinate the public consultation portion of the review," Mr. Kerrio said.

The Council will hold a series of six public meetings at the following locations: Whitney, August 10; Huntsville, September 19; Minden, September 20; Pembroke, September 21; Ottawa, October 3; Toronto, October 4. The location and time of each meeting will be announced in the local media well in advance of these dates.

The Parks Council is expected to submit its report to the Minister by January 31, 1990. Early in 1990, the Minister will respond to Council's recommendations. The results of the review will provide the direction needed to revise the Algonquin Park Master Plan. The new Algonquin Park Management Plan is scheduled for release in the fall of 1990.

Senior games are underway

by Norma Hodgson

The sixth annual Haliburton County Senior Games were officially opened at Stanhope Community Hall on Friday, April 21 at the Haliburton County Home Support Services luncheon welcoming home the "Snowbirds".

The Senior Games banner was brought in by Norma Crewson and Hadden Gillespie, both wearing the distinctive Haliburton tartan hats and vests. Harry Hodgson, vice chairperson of The County Senior Games, introduced Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis who declared the Summer Games to be officially open on behalf of Stanhope Township and the county as Keith Tallman, Warden was unable to attend. The Rev. John Smith then gave a blessing on the games.

During the months of May and June there will be events in fourteen games held in various venues throughout the County. All adults 55+ are welcome, no expertise is required. These games provide an opportunity for friendly competition and social interaction. It is expected that the winners in a few events will be competing with winners from the Muskoka Community games in a trial District 11 event during September 1989. London, Ontario will be hosting Actifest '90.

The Senior Winter Games were a tremendous success and the participation and enthusiasm is sure to be carried into the Summer Games. The Closing Luncheon will be held on June 22nd at the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 129, Haliburton.

Please get your registrations to the Haliburton County Home Support Services Drop-In Centre (Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.) or on Tuesday only in Minden at the Haliburton County Information Centre located in the Minden Municipal Building (side door, downstairs) before May 15, 1989.

process, the MNR has prepared a tabloid on the Algonquin Park Master Plan Review.

The tabloid contains information on how a person can get involved in the review, the role of the Provincial Parks Council, changes and improvements that occurred in the park as a result of the 1979 review, a summary of key issues along with suggested solutions and options to resolve them, and a questionnaire to solicit people's comments and opinions.

"The key issues are those requiring management direction to ensure that park values are protected and the park goal is not compromised. We need the public's input on these issues so that our proposed strategies will be appropriate to guide the park into its second century," Mr. Kerrio said.

Copies of the tabloid are available at various places throughout Algonquin Park, including access points, the park museum, the East and West Gates on Highway 60, the MNR Algonquin District office, and campground offices.

Copies are also available in MNR's North Bay, Parry Sound, Bracebridge, Minden, Bancroft, and Pembroke district offices; the regional office in Huntsville; MNR's Public Information Centre at 99 Wellesley Street West in the Queen's Park area of Toronto; and from P. O. Box 219, Whitney, Ontario, K0J 2M0, telephone (613)637-2780.

Ontario will celebrate the centennial of its provincial parks system on Algonquin Park's 100th birthday in 1993.

IN MEMORIAM

GILBANK: Beatrice Jane. In loving memory of our dear mother who left us on May 17th, 1986.

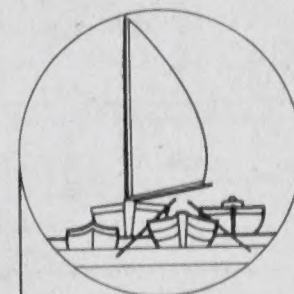

We often think of bygone days
When we were all together
The family chain is broken now
But memories will live forever.
To us, she has not gone away
Nor has she travelled far.
Just entered God's eternal home

Sadly missed and always remembered by Jean and Harry, Bertha and Pete.

JOHNSON: In memory of my husband Doward C. who passed away May 7, 1979.

The treasure of peace
The magic of dreams
The contentment of love.

Lovingly remembered by wife Hazel.
